

- Recommendations for testing accommodations with a stated rationale as to why the requested accommodations are necessary and appropriate for the diagnosed disability.

Board Review Process

The request for accommodation is reviewed by either the Executive Director or designee. Board staff members shall critically review the documentation to ensure that the:

- Documentation is complete as requested,
- Documentation supports the requested accommodation, and
- Accommodation requested is reasonable, can be provided by NSCBN/Pearson VUE, and does not compromise the intent of the exam (e.g. a request for a paper/pencil test cannot be provided)

During the course of the review, Board staff may communicate with the applicant to clarify the request or suggest available alternatives if the accommodation is not feasible (e.g. a paper/pencil test). The decision to recommend or not recommend the accommodation is conveyed to the licensing technician and the applicant, who is then instructed to apply for the exam. While the Board may recommend an accommodation, NCSBN reviews all requests and either grants or denies the request. If the request is denied, the applicant may submit additional information to support their request.

Denial and Appeal Process; Transfer of Information; Record of Request

If staff does not have sufficient evidence to grant the accommodation, the applicant will be informed of the requirements and advised as to the evidence needed to grant the request. The applicant may appeal staff findings to the Board by submitting a written request within 10 days of the notification of insufficient evidence to grant the accommodation.

If there is information in the accommodation request that indicates the applicant's condition poses a risk to the health, safety and welfare of patients or the public that information will be provided to the investigations department and an investigation may be conducted.

All requests for accommodation are maintained and filed in the applicant's licensing file and are not considered public records.
